

Computer with editor for specific synth loaded, transmitting specific parameter data to BCR2000 with button/knob set to learn. Once synth preset has been created, it is then saved.

Next, the BCR2000 is connected to the synthesizer that this new preset has been designed for and then is able to control these parameters on said synth.

